

Converter Complete!

Contributed by Peter McKane
Sunday, 03 December 2006
Last Updated Sunday, 03 December 2006

Unexpectedly, the converter is actually complete. It has a full range of options for Postgre, MySQL and Microsoft Access. Currently, only table dump conversion is possible, query to query conversion is coming soon. Please read the instructions on how to prepare and obtain a suitable table dump for correct conversion into useful queries of your choice. Give it a try . In the next few days the converter will be packaged up into an installable set of scripts that you can use on your own server. Eventually (when its working sufficiently) all of these scripts will be made Open Source. There will be a press release made available when this happens.